The need for quality maternity facilities

Maternity services in the UK are always in the spotlight and, while different options are available for families, close to 90% of births take place in NHS obstetric units.

Hospital services are at capacity, with some running at 100% occupancy on a regular basis.

Additionally, teams across the NHS are providing maternity care at a time when the complex care needs of mothers are increasing, which requires risks to be managed and interventions to be more common.

In the National Maternity Review, various recommendations were made about how NHS trusts could improve services for mothers, their babies and families. They should, of course, be 'safe, clinically effective and providing a good experience'.

One of the report's recommendations was 'Working Across Boundaries', urging Trusts to provide and commission maternity services to support personalisation, safety and choice, with access to specialist care whenever needed. It recommended the creation of Community Hubs.

Vanguard Healthcare Solutions helps healthcare providers meet long and short-term capacity requirements to expand maternity services or during planned refurbishment of existing maternity facilities.

Our mobile, modular and mixed modality solutions can be quickly deployed for use as high quality delivery suites, operating theatres, wards, birthing centres and Community Hubs.

"The birth of a child should be a wonderful, life-changing time for a mother and her whole family. It is a time of new beginnings, of fresh hopes and new dreams, of change and opportunity."

Baroness Julia Cumberlege, Independent Chair,
National Maternity Review

A Vanguard mobile solution helped maternity services maintain their obstetrics and paediatrics capacity. We provided a mobile delivery room at the Wilhelmina Hospital, Assen.

The mobile solution helped the hospital continue to maintain the level of clinical obstetrics support available for pregnant women in the area following the closure of obstetrics and paediatrics in nearby towns.

With an increased demand for maternity services expected as a result of the closures, Wilhelmina Hospital prepared by expanding its capacity through the introduction of the mobile theatre as an additional delivery room.

The facility was on site for 26 weeks. Linked to the hospital, the delivery room was customised to ensure it met the hospital's requirements and provided them with a fully equipped delivery room of the very highest standards.
